SLACKERS ARE NOT ALLOWED TO OBTAIN AID

Laborers Will Have To Assist In Harvest Hereabouts

ORDERS WERE GIVEN

Those Who Refuse To Be Taken Off The Relief Rolls

WORK SUSPENDED

Because a fear was entertained it would be difficult to obtain workers for the fall harvest Santa Rosa SERA officials issued orders all work along SERA lines be suspended here until the harvest season is over, this will include pears, prunes, hops and grapes and will likely extend until early in October. It is contended that all who want work can obtain the same on ranches and vineyards and that actual earning opportunity will not be lessened but that, on the other hand, if SERA projects continued, many would refuse to work, contending they would prefer their SERA relief to work in orchards, vineyards and hop yards.

The SERA committee of Mendocino county was called together in special meeting Wednesday to consider the problem of placing SERA workers in private employment on ranches, in the pear, hop, grape and prune harvest, promptly as the growers are in need of assistance. The following committee members were present: Walter Sandelin, chairman, A. A. Heser, Leslie E. Crawford and Mrs. Frances Woodhead, secretary.

Hires Many Men.

Leslie E. Crawford, besides being a member of the SERA committee is a prominent fruit grower and a large employer of harvest labor.

They Must Work.

A number of relief worker officials from Sonoma county were on hand as was Warren Brown, president of the Hop Growers Association, Ukiah. It was stated by Mr. Brown the growers were apprehensive people on SERA work relief would refuse to quit SERA jobs to harvest crops. Some growers were reported to have gone to the work projects and offered jobs to SERA workers, and had been refused by some of the workers there employed. The committee was assured by government relief heads the SERA program calls for the movement of all relief workers into private employment and that any person who is offered a job and refuses to accept it, will be immediately separated from the work relief rolls.

Ready To Cooperate.

Representatives of the National Reemployment Service stated that office is prepared to receive orders from the growers for employes they need. Relief workers will be given first preference in making such assignments. Any person refusing to accept such private employment will be reported by the NRS to the SERA and will be immediately removed from relief.

How To Proceed.

The National Reemployment Service requests that calls for workers be made immediately, so that special consideration can be given to each individual call, as it comes in. The NRS office is located above the Fire House in Ukiah, Telephone 30. L. H. Allen is in charge. SERA representatives request that growers, in seeking to get relief workers for their harvest, make their applications to the NRS rather than going directly to the SERA work projects, as only by such a procedure will the SERA be able to check on those who have been offered private employment.

Vultures Prey On Prisoners

(San Francisco Examiner)

New and startling charges that prisoners in the state penitentiaries are constant targets of outside racketeers were hurled yesterday as another parole scandal exploded here.

Following official disclosures that Rocco Russo, San Francisco murderer, serving life in Folsom, had paid $7000 to a North Beach fish dealer in a vain attempt to buy a pardon parole, A. R. O'Brien, member of the State Board of Prison Directors, said:

"At almost every meeting of the board, we have to take a stand against a certain class of lawyers, who, learning a prisoner has money to his credit, try to get the prisoner to give an order against his account so the lawyer can make a fight to get him out. The lawyer knows he cannot get the prisoner freed.

ANOTHER RACKET.

"We also come across instances where reprehensible San Franciscans sign false offers of employment to men eligible for parole who cannot be liberated because they have no jobs.

"Recently a San Francisco garage man took $25.00 from a prisoner for such a false offer. After the prisoner was released and found he had no job he committed six holdups and is back in prison again.

"The board is having as hard a time trying to protect criminals from this element of society that is preying on them as it is in trying to protect society from criminals."

Mr. O'Brien revealed Rocco Russo told prison board members that a murderer who claimed Joe Allioti had secured his release from prison urged him to give Joe Allioti the money to obtain a pardon for him.

The story of the parole scandal broke in city newspapers last week. The editor of this newspaper believes that all matters concerning the public good should be public. He was present when the check for $7400, which had been given by aged Rosa Russo to Joe Allioti, "big shot" in North Beach, to buy a parole for Rocco Russo, life term murderer at Folsom, was shown by the life termer.

Good Man Retired; Another Was Hired

When M. A. Carpenter, who for more than 16 years has faithfully served Mendocino county as purchasing agent, asked for a lay off of a year, the Board of Supervisors reluctantly consented, appreciating the board was losing a very competent member of the official family. To replace Mr. Carpenter the board of supervisors employed Volney Van Dyke, former county tax collector and a man who is, undoubtedly, as well advised on county matters and finances as anyone in Mendocino county. Mr. Van Dyke will make a most satisfactory purchasing agent and his selection will meet with approval from the taxpayers who were always very courteously and carefully served by Mr. Van Dyke when he was tax collector.

REDWOOD WILL BE USED FOR SPAN CATWALK

Roeblings Make Selection Of Our Timber On Big Job

MANY ADVOCATED IT

300,000 Ft. Of Picked Lumber Will Go Into Runway

(By Stuart B. Dunbar)

That the immense catwalks of the Golden Gate Bridge, swinging at a dizzy height above the swirling waters of San Francisco's harbor entrance are to be constructed of California redwood was revealed in the weekly progress report of Chief Engineer Joseph B. Strauss, on file today for the directors of the bridge district.

Reason For Selection.

More than 300,000 board feet of selected redwood lumber will be used in building the two 20-foot walks, which will stretch across the Golden Gate from anchorage to anchorage. The decision to use redwood in the construction of the walks was made by the bridge engineering staff and the John A. Roeblings Sons Co., cable contractors, after a painstaking survey of all available materials. Of first consideration in making the selection of redwood were its fire and weather resistant qualities and its comparative light

OLD TIMER IN SERIOUS WAY IN ROOF FALL

"Dick" Lanktree Lies Near Death At Ukiah Hospital

PELVIS WAS BROKEN

Nonagenarian Drops Off A Roof While Hunting Hammer

"Dick" Lanktree for years a resident here, many of which he was engaged with the Miller Stage Co. and who about five years ago left Ukiah and has since been making his home in San Francisco, is at Ukiah General Hospital in a serious condition, the result of a fall from the roof of the house he owns here and which he came up to oversee repaired.

Hunted A Hammer.

Mr. Lanktree was sitting in courthouse square Friday afternoon and said to companions there he intended going to his house, which is rented by the Hornbrook and Bard families, and try and find a hammer which he had allowed to fall between walls last year when he was repairing a roof. Evidently Mr. Lanktree followed out his intentions and, either became overcome by heat, or dizziness or fell from the roof, as he was found shortly afterward by Ruth Hornbrook on the ground near the house.

Has Broken Ribs.

Dr. H. O. Cleland was called and had Mr. Lanktree taken to Ukiah General Hospital where it was later discovered that, in addition to shock, Mr. Lanktree is suffering some broken ribs. Mr. Lanktree is about 90 years of age and his case is very serious because of this fact in addition to the gravity of his injuries.

Daughter Is Here.

Mrs. Edith Crozier, of Eureka, a daughter of Mr. Lanktree, who is a trained nurse, is here to care for her father. Mrs. Margaret English, a granddaughter from San Francisco, is also here to assist in the care of the injured man.

NORTH COAST ROAD FOUND IN FINE SHAPE

Ft. Bragg Newspaper Approves Work Of Coast Supervisor

GRADE IS EXCELLENT

Displace Old Bridges By Fills—Beaches Are Recovered

(Fort Bragg Advocate)

Supervisor Charles R. Perkins and his crew of road builders have been doing some mighty fine work on the road north of Westport. The Shoreline highway, to the northern limits of Westport, is in the state highway system, but from there on the road is still under the care of the Supervisor of the Fourth Road District.

Public Can Use Beaches.

Some time ago Mendocino county purchased a strip of land from the Thompsons, who have quite a bit of land north of Westport. The land purchased was on the coast and included the shoreline. This road has been widened so two cars can pass at any place, but more than that, all of the numerous beaches in that section have been made accessible to the public. Former trails to the beaches have been widened to allow cars to go to the beach and these new roads are in use constantly by tourists who either camp on the big beaches or have picnics there. This new strip of road is a remarkable improvement over the narrow and twisty old road.

Real Road Work Done.

Improvements on the north coast road have not stopped at this three mile improvement. The entire road from Union Landing to Wages Creek has been put in wonderful condition. An entire new road has been built all along the bluff and is 50 feet lower than the old road. Thirteen old and obsolete bridges have been replaced by modern fills. The road has been all straightened and, as soon as possible, the entire road will be graveled.

Turns Taken Out.

From Hardy creek to Rockport more improvements have been

Liquor Men Feasted-Dined On Russian River Monday

One of the largest gatherings of members of the Redwood Empire Liquor Dealers Association yet held assembled at the Hanby Ford swimming pool north of Ukiah Monday for the monthly meeting. District Attorney Determined Fewer Go Unpunished

ACCIDENTS MUST END

Too Many People Are Killed By Hunters Who Shoot Quick

The two recent fatal hunting accidents in Mendocino county has brought from District Attorney Lilburn Gibson a statement in which the law and the position of the officers is outlined. In his statement District Attorney Gibson goes on to say:

District Attorney L. I. Gibson Who Takes An Anti-Careless-Hunters Stand That Will Meet With Approval of the Public.

"Two good men have recently been killed in our county by careless hunters. One of these hunters says he thought he was shooting at a deer and the other says he was shooting at a rabbit or a buzzard shadow. It is obvious neither saw distinctly what he was shooting at and it is also obvious that what he was shooting at was a man, and in each instance the bullet found its mark and the result is two freshly dug graves.

Where Fault Lies.

"The remarkable thing about this situation is that there have not been more such killings. There are altogether too many people who call themselves hunters who go out and shoot at everything that moves in the brush. How they know that the object moving in the brush is a buck deer of a forked horn or more is unfathomable. The truth, of course, is that they do

AUTO KILLED AGED RANCHER

Marshall W. Bowen, Confused, Stepped Into Road

Marshall W. Bowen, who for a great many years resided on Hemlock ranch, a short distance this side of the Mendocino-Lake counties line, becoming confused while crossing the highway Sunday afternoon, stepped directly in front of a car driven by Kimball Dodge, of Fort Bragg, and a companion who had been hunting. They had two dogs with them. Unable to avoid striking Mr. Bowen, Mr. Dodge set his brakes and by doing so overturned his car, both men sustaining severe bruises and injuries. The two dogs, frightened at the overturning of the car, ran away and have not been found.

Died Soon Afterward.

FALL FAIR IS TO BE EVENT ALL WILL AID

Committees Named For Affair On September 13-15

GETTING UP PROGRAM

Entertainment Of Varied Nature To Be Management Aim

With the idea of not permitting this fall to pass without Ukiah continuing her annual event, which in the past has centered around a Rodeo, a meeting of businessmen was held last week and an organization perfected at which Stanley W. Watson was named chairman; Mrs. Bessie Jamison secretary-treasurer, and later the active management of the Fair this fall turned over to the Ukiah Riding Club of which A. T. Henrich is president, George Vevoda vice-president, Norman Buhn secretary and treasurer.

Committees Named.

Continuing the formation of plans A. T. Henrich was entrusted with parade details, E. A. Eversole will be in charge of concessions, George P. Anderson and Lou Charlton made a committee to look after grounds and track. The attraction is to be operated under the name of Mendocino Co. Ranch Rodeo and Horse Show. The dates for the fair have been set for September 13, 14 and 15.

Purchased A Site.

Oscar Elphick has recently purchased the Charles Hopkins ranch and Mr. Elphick is taking out the orchard and will make the property into a fairground. The land is centrally located and is ideal for the purpose for which it will be used.

Plenty Of Attractions.

As the program is being developed there will be a big variety of features provided as the time goes along. At the Palace Hotel there will be a floor show in the evenings. On the streets a carnival will hold forth and all classes of amusements the little ones long for will be available. There will be boxing bouts and wrestling matches in the evenings and, of course, there will be dancing.

The fair has the backing of the business men of the community and it will be put over without entailing any severe drain on anyone. A hustling committee has been given charge of the fair and perfect teamwork is being relied upon to carry out the affair in a satisfactory manner.

NEW FURNACE WORKING WELL

Installation Of Warm Air Contrivance Lessens Fire Hazard

Safe drying of hops was stepped up several points here this season when Leslie E. Crawford had installed by the Bard Heating & Plumbing Co. a new dryer system in the hop dryers on the Crawford ranch at Burkelea.

How It Operates.

The dryer works on the same order one of the improved home furnaces used in house heating operates. The hops are dried by hot air, which is automatically blown into the room in which the hops are placed to be dried and, while the method entails a considerable installation expense the hazard of fire is greatly lessened and insurance, naturally, is reduced.

Fire Far Removed.

The fire at the Crawford ranch drier is about 50 feet from the hops being dried and not, as in the old driers, directly under the hops.

Working Satisfactorily.

Mr. Crawford has tried out his new furnace, by using thermometers, and finds the furnace is working perfectly.

PAROLE VIOLATORS

AT SAN QUENTIN penitentiary the prisoners publish a monthly magazine, The Bulletin, and in the last issue of the publication appeared an editorial with the above caption. It was written by a convict and it reflects the feelings of the 10,000 men and women in the penal institutions of the state. Read it. Think it over and, this page believes, you will not be so opposed to the parole system as you possibly have been after hearing so much about there being no merit in giving a broken man a chance. Here it is:

"The source of one form of indignation among inmates that is well founded is one that springs from the actions of the parole violator. The individual who leaves the institution and, before he has had time to read a good book, deliberately commits some new offense, is one that the inmates have no sympathy for whatever.

"In judging whether or not an inmate is a good parole risk, it is only reasonable that the actions of those who have gone before will be taken into consideration. It then readily follows that when a wanton parole violation is bellowed up and down the full length and breadth of the commonwealth, it is no wonder that the Parole Board looks upon new candidates with a jaundiced eye. How are they to know who may go out and, during the same phase of the moon, destroy by their actions all the confidence that has been placed in them? The answer is: they don't.

"The Parole Board is a tolerant and broad-minded body. It fully realizes that human nature has weaknesses and makes due allowance for a nominal number of slips. But it must be remembered that they are in the first instance serving the best interests of the people of California, and when needless and senseless violations come to their attention—with attendant headlines in that wing of the press that makes a business of straining at gnats in all matters of an unsavory nature connected with penal institutions—their peace of mind most naturally suffers prodigious agitation.

"It all simmers down to the fact that the thousands who are paying their debt, rearranging their thinking, and looking to their day of release with a firm resolve to make good, do the suffering. For every mite and mickle of confidence that is destroyed by those who have been trusted, the gap becomes wider that must be bridged when inmates aspire to a restoration of social liberty.

"Then again it makes doubly difficult the problem of the released individual who is making good on parole. He of course is looked upon with suspicion, and at the same time is retarded in his efforts to overcome the handicap under which he labors.

"In California 86 per cent of those released make good, and the main reason why it can't be 96 per cent is the actions of the witless parole violator."

IDOL SHATTERING

OF COURSE ALL OF YOU have, on countless occasions, read of "The Little Church Around The Corner," in New York, hallowed by the tender story of its pastor, who, when other churches had refused, or shown little inclination, to bury a penniless actor, told friends of the dead thespian "There is a little church around the corner of which I am the pastor from which, whether your friend left money or not, he can be provided a Christian burial."

Times, according to a story this page read the other day, have greatly changed at The Little Church Around The Corner since then. Visitors in town continue to show a tender and romantic interest in the celebrated Little Church Around The Corner, always recalling the heart-warming legend of its nicknaming and mooning about the great numbers of love affairs which there have turned to wedlock. "Great numbers" is right. Fact is, so many people are married at the Little Church Around The Corner—about 2000 couples a year—that the traffic has to be handled in a most unromantic but very businesslike way — form letters, price lists and stern admonitions about baptisms, divorces, being under age, and secret unions (the church is against all the latter). The day and time of each ceremony has to be exactly set, and conformed to, because the altar business is very brisk — sometimes as many as 40 weddings in a day being performed by Rev. Randolph Ray and his two assistants. The price list goes like this: Office fee, $3; use of chapel, $10; use of church, $25. Payment for the ceremony itself is a voluntary offering to church and clergy, but never should be less than $10. Music costs $15 and includes two wedding marches and incidental soft music during the vow-taking. Candles (if he wants candles) set a man back $5 if he decides to brighten up the church, $2 if he rents the chapel. An awning, from door to curb, brings a $50 rental. People don't witness marriages just for the romantic thrill of it, so there is a witness fee of $1 per person if the church provides them. One thing a bride and groom get for nothing is a year's membership in the Family of the Little Church Around the Corner. After that, though, it costs a dollar a year to remain in the fold.

DECELEROMETER EXPLAINED

Are your brakes excellent, fair or defective? The machine on the running board of the car will tell you with scientific accuracy. It's called a decelerometer and will be used here in the "Drive Safely" tests which Shell is promoting as a help toward reducing accidents. Paul Collett, in charge of the tests, is shown explaining the working of the decelerometer to an interested motorist.

August 28-29 are Shell "Drive Safely" days here. The Shell safety test is designed to show whether a car's brakes, lights and horn—the three fundamentals of safe operation — are in good working order. Testing will start promptly, August 28, at 2:30. The Shell crew will be on hand throughout the afternoon and evening until every car whose owner wants tests made has departed. Every car tested will receive a windshield sticker, "Tested for Safety," signed by Chief of Police Ornbaun, who is aiding the campaign both personally and officially. The tests will be free.

Sidelights of Sadness

Being incidents connected with California's State Prisons as observed by A. R. O'Brien, editor of The Republican Press, who is a director of the State Board of Prisons of California.

WHAT $25.00 DID

I saw, at once, he was a bad model to use to word-paint a moral, but he will have to serve.

Cat-like he came into the Board room at Folsom to have his broken parole adjusted. Cat-like he slid into the chair at the head of the table prisoners occupy at a hearing. He was a rat, yellow, a killer who would be merciless if he was trapped and had the best of a break to get away.

Originally he came to prison for car stealing. He had been paroled and was out only 45 days until he was picked up for hold-ups in San Francisco.

This convict was uncannily peculiar. I noticed he was examination wise. In his lengthy questioning I do not believe, at any time, he spoke more than two words in making replies. What we got from him came only by great labor being exerted, but, put together, it was this: He was eligible for parole but he could get no job until, by that strange, unsolvable method that runs through penitentiaries, word came to him he could get a "false job," if he could raise $25.00 and then, in that equally unexplainable manner, this man's mother, living in Wisconsin, was communicated with and she put up the $25.00. The man, a garage owner, who got the $25.00 signed a pledge to employ the prisoner on liberation. The parole board, in the dark about what was happening, paroled the convict. Arriving in San Francisco the ex-convict, of course, found there was no job. The garage man told him he could "stick around." The few dollars the former prisoner had when he left prison were soon spent. He stole a gun, he told us, and, alone, committed six store hold-ups. Luckily, in no instance did the victim resist, had they, there is no question this boy would have cold-bloodedly shot them.

In vain we tried to get the convict to say he split with the garage man the money he got in the robberies. He would not do so. We tried to make him say the garage man loaned him the gun. He would not.

All the board could do was to re-sentence him.

This was done.

Here we have an illustration of what a tough job one has who tries to rehabilitate convicts. A certain element of society is as busy preying on men in the state penitentiaries as the criminals on the outside are energetically raiding society. This purchased job will have a far-reaching ramification. It has sent this young man back, practically, for life, but the misery it has created does not end there by any means. In both prisons there are hundreds of men waiting to get a break through parole. These men know, every time a parolee fails to make good, it makes it just that much harder for the men seeking to be paroled to get the board to act favorably, because of aroused public sentiment and, inside the prison walls, the resentment against the returned parole violator brings on quarrels and knifings. Voters last week refused to approve building another penitentiary; every day new prisoners come to the state prisons. Vultures blood-suck the poor devils while in the prisons and when they get outside.

While, it is true, 86 per cent of the paroled men make good, despite all the handicaps, and only 14 per cent slip, the public hears only about the 14 per cent and they hear plenty about them.

Truly, sometimes, a fellow almost loses heart.

UKIAH CAT IS A PROTECTOR OF SMALL BOY

Coiled Rattlesnake Is Betrayed By Hostile Feline

IT BROUGHT FATHER

Unusual Sense Shown By Pet Of Hildreth Household

(Santa Rosa Republican)

Chalk up a shining mark for the family cat!

Hit The Ball.

For that much maligned feline, accused for generations of being utterly devoid of sentiment, and — according to dog lovers — interested principally in the welfare of itself, has proven the contrary to be true.

Did Its Duty.

A Ukiah cat Sunday proved itself a hero in every sense of the word, as well as a watchful guardian of the peace and safety of the human beings in its particular household. For the cat drew the attention of Earle Hildreth — who, by the way, doesn't ordinarily think so much of cats as cats go—to a coiled rattlesnake in time to save his seven-year-old boy from the deadly fangs of the scaled menace.

Carried His Rifle.

Mr. Hildreth, a Santa Rosa real estate broker, went over the weekend to visit relatives in the Ukiah section. He took his deer rifle along—just in case.

Cat Gives Alarm.

While comfortably seated on the front porch of his relative's house, and while the seven-year-old son was romping about on the front lawn, Mr. Hildreth's attention was drawn to the queer antics of the family cat. The feline would run toward a clump of iris on the edge of the lawn, arch its back, snarl and spit in true feline fashion, then run back to Mr. Hildreth, rub against his legs and run back to the iris where the back arching, spitting, etc., was repeated. This went on for some time.

Would Sail In.

Mr. Hildreth finally investigated and found a three-foot rattler "all set" for a strike at the lad who was playing not more than two feet distant. As Mr. Hildreth stepped up the cat was crouched, ready to battle the reptile, attracting attention from the child. Mr. Hildreth grabbed his gun and killed the snake, which bore 12 rattles.

He's Different Now.

Mr. Hildreth has more regard for cats today.

MUCH CATTLE NOW SHIPPED

Round Valley's Livestock Being Moved To The Markets

Special Correspondence of The Press

COVELO, Aug. 20.—The busiest time of the year is upon Round Valley. Everything is moving, from pears and hay to cattle. The Biggar orchard is first to be picked and others will follow shortly. Considerable baled alfalfa hay is being trucked out to the Redwood highway. The approaches to the new Burger creek bridge have been completed and the bridge is in active use. Not much too soon ,either. Despite a short grain crop, stock looks very well and cattle buyers have been around rather earlier than usual.

Getting Up Cattle.

All beef cattle look sleek and good. H. H .Beard is gathering his beef in Summitt Valley. Frank Travis, of Caution, has already made two shipments via Kekewaka and will make another. Arthur Carpenter, the Barrasses, Brown Bros., and Fred Crabtree are stockmen who are finishing cattle in valley pastures.

Hunters Are Numerous.

Many hunters are passing through this section on the way to Buckville, but it is too soon to predict what success they may have. Late rains and an abundant crop of manzanita berries have helped fatten some deer. There will be a good crop of acorns on post oak and tan oak and about half a crop on black oaks.

Road Is Improving.

The road to Summitt Valley and Bald Mountain has been worked recently and is much improved.

He Handles Job.

Walter Winters is drying hops at the Wheatland ranch, owned by Wolf Hop Company.

Starts Tomorrow.

Hop picking will begin here Thursday, August 22.

Here Long Ago.

Carl Groscup and family, of Concord, passed through town Saturday. They came over the mountain and were on their way to visit relatives in Jackson and Long Valleys. About 20 years ago Carl went to school here. He was contemporary of Bootie Hagne, Mat Conner and Della Morrison.

Want Good Exhibit.

Supervisor Duane Bittenbender was in town the end of the week looking after county business. He reports people in Ukiah as being greatly interested in Mendocino county's exhibit at State Fair August 31 to September 9. Many Round Valley citizens, George Conrad, Enoch Thompson and others, plan to take their vacation then and see the Fair, also several stockraisers from Trinity county, among them Frank Travis, of Caution, Miss Anne Anderson, owner of the Double O Ranch near Ruth, and several riders interested in fine horses as well as cattle.

Are Club Relatives.

Leon Terry, of Mina, was in town Saturday. Mr. Terry hails originally from New York and belongs to a small club whose password is "York State." The other members are Mrs. Catherine B. Morrison and Mrs. E. V. A. Murphey. They all came to California about the same time.

Keeps On Increasing.

Round Valley's best and biggest crop—the babies—shows no diminution. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young (Aurilla Osborne) have a baby boy, born at Howard Memorial Hospital, Willits, recently. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harpe have a little girl, the first in a family of three boys; while there are Indian girl babies at the Soldier Quarters and at the Hop ranch, all born during the past week.

Paul Thomas, of Yreka, passed the weekend at the hospitable Winters home—old time neighbors in Yreka.

Came For Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Motander stopped in on their way to Oregon to pick up their small son, Donald, who has been visiting his "Grandma Far-away," Mrs. E. A. Gravier, the past two months.

Seeking Advanced Pupils.

Messrs. Swengel and Snodgrass, of U. S. Indian Service Educational Department, were in Round Valley last week rounding up children for Sherman Institute. Between examining children who wish to go away to school and taking care of the newcomers, Dr. G. K. Osborn has had a busy week. The position of part time physician for the Indian Service is still vacant. Many children have signed up for Riverside, Chemawa and Carson. Carson Indian School will open late, September 26, on account of rebuilding and repairs. Children will hold themselves in readiness after September 9 to be transported. This school specializes in various sorts of practical vocational training, but gives no commercial courses.

To Attend Meeting.

Mrs. G. M. Biggar, district chairman of roads and highways, C. F. W. C., and Mrs. Roland Hurt, president Covelo Women's Improvement Club, will attend the district board meeting in San Francisco this week.

Fine Young Folks Summer.

The young folks had a charming social gathering at the home of Truman Lowry Saturday evening.

This has been an unusually pleasant summer for the young people—not too hot, not too much work and frequent moonlight swims and wienie roasts.

VICTIM'S BODY IS RECOVERED

Remains Of Alden Lane, In Water 20 Days, Floating

(Fort Bragg Advocate)

The body of Alden Lane, 19-year-old Fort Bragg youth, who disappeared when he was carried over the bluff in an automobile accident, while returning from a dance at Little River on the night of July 21, was discovered floating in Mendocino bay Saturday afternoon by Andrew Grass of Mendocino.

How He Died.

It will be remembered the young man met a tragic death when he, in company with Ervin Baker, went over the bluff in an automobile just south of Mendocino. It is supposed Ervin Baker was thrown clear of the car in its long plunge into the ocean. At that time the Life-Saving Crew from Point Arena was called but, after grappling some hours for the body of Mr. Lane, gave up the task as it was unable to find it.

Not Far Distant.

The body was discovered a short distance from where the car made the fatal plunge. A boat was sent out from Mendocino and picked up the body and bought it to shore, where Deputy Coroner Ward M. Reis took charge and removed the remains to the undertaking parlors.

Features Unrecognizable.

From its long stay of 20 days in the ocean, the features were unrecognizable, although the body was intact, as was the clothing which he wore when he went over in the car.

Large Delinquencies Were Taken Care Of

(The Lakeport Press)

The largest payment of delinquent taxes in the history of Lake county, and probably in northern California, was made yesterday when H. Vincent Keeling ,trustee for the bankrupt Clear Lake Beach Company, paid $4000 in cash to the county treasurer on 4200 parcels of delinquent Clear Lake Beach Co. property. Previous payments made by Mr. Keeling since the affairs of the bankrupt company have been in his hands bring the total up to $5500.

C. N. Snyder was in Santa Rosa recently attending a meeting of representatives of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

GUESTS CAME TO DINE, BUT GOT SURPRISE

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Kirwin invited a group of friends to dinner Wednesday evening, but it was not until the guests were seated at the dinner table they discovered the guests of honor were a bride and groom.

Miss Rowena Foley and Dale Mourning, of San Francisco, had been quietly married Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 at St. Mary's Catholic church. Father Raphael Quinn officiating at the ceremony. The only witnesses were Dr. and Mrs. Kirwin.

The bride and groom are very close friends of the Kirwins and have visited here many times, becoming acquainted with the younger Ukiah set.

For her wedding the bride wore a lovely aqua-marine chiffon gown, made with full skirt and long sleeves. She carried a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Kirwin wore a shell pink lace gown and she, too, carried gardenias.

The guests at the dinner party were received at the Kirwin home and no hint of the announcement was given until the group arrived at the Rainbow Cafe. The long dinner table in the private dining room had been decorated in bridal array, with a miniature bridal party in the center of the table. Yellow, pink and white candles in candlesticks made of lovely clusters of delicate toned hydrangeas were arranged on each side of the central group. Corsages of hydrangeas made up into old fashioned bouquets were at each place, and for place cards the guests found tiny celophane wrapped packages of rice with rolled scrolls attached to them that told the story of the wedding.

The delighful surprise brought forth many good wishes and congratulations to the bride and groom. Throughout the dinner the conversation took the form of "Why didn't you tell us" and "I thought so."

Mr and Mrs. Mourning left on their honeymoon immediately following dinner and on their return will make their home in Oakland.

The guests at the party were the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Mourning; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Ruel Stickney, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Cherry, Judge and Mrs. James E. Special Correspondence of The Press

ANDERSON VALLEY, Aug. 20.

Mrs. Frank Wilkin, who suffered a hemorrhage of the brain last week, is still in a critical condition at her home near Philo, but seems to be slowly improving. Her sister, Mrs. H. Williams, accompanied by her husband, arrived from Portland Thursday. Another sister, Mrs. Ralph Stathem, with Mr. Stathem and three children, of Fresno, were guests at the Wilkins home when Mrs. Wilkin was stricken. They will remain until she is out of danger. Dr. D. C. Oakleaf, of Cloverdale, is the physician in charge. Mrs. Wilkin's friends here wish her a speedy recovery.

Had Tonsilectomy.

A Close Call.

E. O. Hotell has killed three rattlesnakes within the past two weeks, the last one was at the home of his mother, Mrs. W. C. Hotell, south of Boonville, and was discovered by his wife across a path at the garden gate that her mother-in-law had just passed through. Mrs. W. C. Hotell has had considerable trouble with her eyes, undergoing an operation some time ago, and is not yet able to see very clearly so it is not known if she stepped over the snake or not, but she probably did, as Mrs. E. O. Hotell was very close behind her. Any way it was close enough to give both women a real fright.

Back From Hospital.

James V. Bivans arrived home from Healdsburg Hospital Friday and is being cared for by his sister, Mrs. R. E. Vallier. He will be confined to his bed for some time, but is making a very rapid recovery considering the serious nature of his operation.

Came For Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Estill, of Ukiah, accompanied by Mr. Estill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Estill, motored over Friday evening to get their small daughter, Reita, who has been staying at the J. T. Farrer home the past three weeks.

Rancher Was Sick.

J. E. Wallach was seriously ill the first of the week but is able to be around again now. He was taken to Cloverdale for medical treatment by his son-in-law, E. Turner.

Contracting Apples.

Many apple growers here have contracted all or part of their crop for 7½ cents on extra choice.

Had A Party.

Thursday last was the birthday of Miss Anita Zeni and for the occasion the mother of the young lady invited 15 of the friends of Miss Zeni to participate in the observance of the affair. A large birthday cake, with 18 candles, featured the feast Mrs. Zeni prepared for her daughter and guests.

Spinal Meningitis Victim.

This community was shocked by the sudden death of Mrs. Fiossie Gianoli, wife of F. M. Gianoli, Monday morning at one o'clock following a few hours illness. Mrs. Gianoli was found by her small daughter, Roberta, on the floor in convulsions late Sunday afternoon. The little girl called neighbors and they summoned Dr. Jordt and later Dr. D .C. Oakleaf of Cloverdale was called by Mr. Gianoli who had been out for a hunting trip since Saturday evening. Mrs. Gianoli had complained of a headache and had sent to a neighbor for aspirin earlier in the day, but as she was alone except for their two small children, it is not known when she became seriously ill. It is understood Dr. Oakleaf pronounced death due to spinal meningitis. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, F. M. Gianoli and two small children, her father, C. C. St. John, a brother, Lawrence St. John, and a sister, Mrs. Floyd Walker.

Mrs. Bivans Ill.

Mrs. J. L. Bivans is confined to her bed at her home here. She has been in poor health for some time.

Held Family Picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Akey and small daughter, of Burlingame, were weekend guests of Mrs. Akey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Burke. They were accompanied by Mrs. Mary McFaul and Claude Presley. Sunday they all enjoyed a family picnic, together with Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwards and two grandchildren, of Hopland, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Presley, of Petaluma, and all of the Presley family except Mrs. S. M. Presley and son, Charles Presley.

To Take Up Duties.

THE REDWOOD EMPIRE SHOWN

Exceptionally Clever Article Appears In Motorland

Describing the Redwood Empire region as one of "matchless beauty comparable to no other in America, nor even in the world," a featured article is devoted to recreational and scenic attractions of the area in the August issue of Motorland, travel magazine published by the California State Automobile Association.

A Well Prepared Article.

Attractions of the counties embraced by the Redwood Empire are reviewed in comprehensive detail and with a pervading note of enthusiasm for the diversified features which the region offers the motor tourist, vacationist and sportsman. The article is well illustrated with a variety of photographic views.

A Handsome Cover.

Motorland's cover design for this month carries out the theme with a striking camera study of the Redwood Highway with sunlight drifting through giant trees. It is a new copyright photograph by Moulin.

Will Help Greatly.

Written especially for Motorland by Cristel Hastings, the story of the Redwood Empire brings attractions of the region to the attention of more than 62,000 motorin gfamilies in northern and central California represented by membership in the Automobile Association. Scenic, recreational and historical features are presented with an inviting appeal calculated to strongly inflence an increased tide of travel into the Redwood Empire.

CARELESSNESS CANNOT

not know, but they are willing to "take a chance." If they walk over to where they shot and find it is a farmers horse, cow, sheep or other domestic animal, they get away from the scene as quickly as possible. If it is a man they have killed, they, of course, get very nervous and upset about it and cry to the high heavens it was an unavoidable accident.

Not Free Of Blame.

"Such shootings are not unavoidable accidents. They are the result, not only of the grossest kind of negligence, but also of deliberate and wilful misconduct. It is getting so that the careful and legitimate hunter is afraid to go hunting or get near a bush for fear someone with a high-powered rifle will take a shot at him. This situation must cease in Mendocino county, and we are serving definite notice upon all such careless hunters, particularly those who come from without the county, that every persons who kills another person while hunting in the woods is going to be promptly arrested and vigorously prosecuted either on a charge of second degree murder or manslaughter; so let such careless hunters beware!"

RETURNING MONDAY

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Messick, who have been enjoying a vacation in various places along the coast, are expected home Monday. Mr. Messick is manager of the local Montgomery Ward & Co. store.

REDWOOD USED FOR SPAN

weight. The first barge load of catwalk sections, rendered additionally immune to fire by the application of a coat of green fire retardant paint, was towed to Lime Point from the Roeblings plant at California City late last week and is in readiness for erection.

Was Early Advocated.

Use of redwood in the construction of the bridge wherever possible has long been urged by the Redwood Empire Association, the California Redwood Association and north bay groups in the redwood timber area and the Roeblings' catwalk job represents the first large order of this local material for the great span.

Starting This Morning.

With all 25 footbridge cables swung in place in the record time of two weeks, actual erection of the catwalks was scheduled to get under way today. The original schedule called for the completion of the swinging of the footbridge cables on September 1. This saving of two weeks will mean cable spinning operations will commence early in October, a little over a month being required to erect the catwalks.

How Work Goes.

The first operation will be the adjustment of the footbridge cables to even them up in their final position. Next the footbridge of catwalk "trains" will slide out on the wires in lengths ranging from 103 feet to 150 feet, after the construction of the crosswalks that will connect the two footbridges.

They Are Through.

Meanwhile the McClintic Marshall Corporation, contractors for the steel superstructure of the bridge, have completed all field work and moved off the job, confining their activities to shop work on the various units of the suspended structure in their eastern plants.

Almost Completed.

At the close of last week's work Pylon S-1 back of Fort Scott was in readiness for the final lift of concrete, which will bring it to its full height, and work on the low viaduct had progessed to the point where 1500 feet of this structure in the Presidio had been completed. On the Marin side work continues on the concreting of the footings for the tower pedestals of the steel viaduct, while excavations are under way for the final two footings of this structure. During the past week a total of 310 men were employed on the bridge proper, with 135 of these engaged in work pertaining to the cable contract. The Harbor Tug and Barge Co., which has been engaged in cable laying operations has moved off the job and will not return until the catwalks have been completed and the storm cables are ready to be laid.

CARETAKER IS STANDING PAT

Park Superintendent Will Not Quit After He's Dismissed

(The Mendocino Beacon)

Attorney General U. S. Webb on behalf of the State of California, through Geo. D. Nordenholt, director of Natural Resources, has begun an action in ejectment against John Anderson and wife.

Will Not Quit.

Mr. Anderson was dismissed by the Park Commission as caretaker at Little River some four and a half months ago but refuses to give up the job and he and his wife remain in possession of the caretaker's cottage there and have continued to exercise authority over camping privileges.

Asking Damages.

The state asks damage in the sum of $1000 and the further sum of $250 for rent.

NORTH COAST ROAD

made. Many turns have been cut back, and the road has been widened to the top of the Rockport hill. On the road from the top of the hill down into Rockport, which was re-routed some years ago, all the brush and trees adjacent to the road have been cut down, allowing a much better view of the road to those driving cars.

Still Going On.

Surveying is now under way north of Rockport, and work on that section of the road will start in the very near future.

Old Fear Eliminated.

This road used to be a nightmare to drivers, both natives and tourists. It is a road now that can be advised as an outlet to the north, even though it is not wholly completed. The coast road that used to be narrow, with a high wall on the east and a sheer drop of 500 feet into the Pacific ocean on the west, is practically eliminated. There is no more need to fear to drive it, as the road is plenty wide. When this road becomes known to tourists it will be one of the scenic highways of California.

JONES' PATIO A CHARMING SPOT

Outdoor Court Fashioned After Spanish Style Novelty

Special Correspondence of The Press

REDWOOD VALLEY, Aug. 19. — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jones entertained at a supper served in the lovely new patio of the Jones home last week. The affair was complimentary to B. M. Brakebill's birthday and Mrs. Jones' birthday which are close together. It was also arranged as an initiation inspection of the patio which has just been completed. Those who enjoyed the evening were Mr. and Mrs. B. Brakebill, Edward and John Brakebill, Miss Lucille Bednar, Mrs. Mae Wright, T. S. Van Vleet, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

A project which has been one of utmost joy in anticipation has been the building of a patio by Mr. and Mrs. E. Jones at their country home. It is a formal type, 13½ by 19½, surrounded with a four-foot wall. The rocks being gathered from the field and creekbed. Mr. Jones estimates 25 tons of rocks were hauled for the construction of it and approximately five tons of sand and 20 sacks of cement and fou rsacks of lime were used and it was about a month in the making during spare time. Although it has meant hours of labor, now that it is completed they feel amply repaid for the work in the quiet pleasure they will derive in which to dream and relax in sheer contentment.

A Huge Fireplace.

The real motif of this outdoor living room is the large fireplace on which hangs a crane for preparing meals that are so appetizing when cooked over the open fire.

An entrance to the room is from a rear porch with a solid gate, which is in harmony with the stone wall, that swings open into a grassy lawn.

Is Well Shaded.

A fine large black walnut and some locust trees provide the desired shade. Hanging baskets with drooping graceful ferns are in evidence and the cozy seats and chairs create a most pleasing appearance from within and without.

Had Quilting Bee.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. T. Jameson, Mrs. T. Gullickson, Mrs. N. Nelson, Mrs. B. Brakebill and Mrs. H. Nissen dropped in at Mrs. Minnie Belveal's to help her do some quilting. Mrs. Belveal during her spare time has pieced a number of quilt tops in attractive patterns. The afternoon was passed socially as the ladies plied their needles. Refreshments were served.

Brother Was Visitor.

C. Hargreaves and sister have had the pleasure of entertaining their brother, James Hargreaves and family, of Pasadena, the past week. While here they motored to Reeves Canyon and enjoyed a day on the coast. Deer hunting was a part of the pleasure but, unfortunately, they were not successful in getting a buck.

Newlyweds Tarried.

G. W. Lyman and bride of four months were calling at the Kistler-Watson home Sunday, enroute from their summer home at Soda Bay Terrace, Lake county ,to Vallejo where they reside. Mr. Lyman is a cousin of Mrs. Watson and at one time owned Beale's Auto Camp near Calpella, having cleared the land of the virgin timber for a campsite. He holds a responsible position at Mare Island as superintendent of a large office force and in which work he has been 30 years.

Had Lake Picnic.

Mrs. Nels Nelson and sister, Mrs. Julia Jordan, Miss Anna Nelson and Phyllis and Billie Jordan motored to Blue Lakes Thursday where they enjoyed a picnic lunch and swimming. W. Derrick, a guest in the Nelson home during the week, was also in the party.

To Repair Property.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clemens, of San Francisco, are here for their vacation. They have taken a cottage from Mr. and Mrs. M. Fiske for three weeks. While here Mr. Clemens will make some improvements on his house which is perhaps better known as the former O. P. Wells ranch. Mr. and Mrs. T. Brydon are occupying the house.

Have Baby Daughter.

Cyril Goudge is stepping high these days; in fact the story is he has had to purchase a new hat as all of his old ones are entirely too small. This on account of a 6½-pound daughter which arrived to gladden the Goudge home. There are three boys in the family and this is the first girl. The little one has been named Nancy Lois.

Have A Jewett.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Nelson are driving a Jewett coach, which they purchased in Willits last week.

Patient Is Worse.

Mrs. Harold McFarland and children, of Lakeport, were visitors in the E. Nelson home Sunday. Later in the day they, with the Nelsons, motored to Willits to be with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Gunderson. Mrs. Gunderson, who has been in poor health, has not been so well the past week.

George Jordan is working at the pear sheds in Ukiah.

Freda Green, of Ukiah, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Orval Hayes.

Albertine Berry, who has been employed in Berkeley since college closed, is home for a short visit.

Edna Miller has returned from an outing passed at Camp Dubois, where she was a guest of the Anker family, of Ukiah.

Home For Vacation.

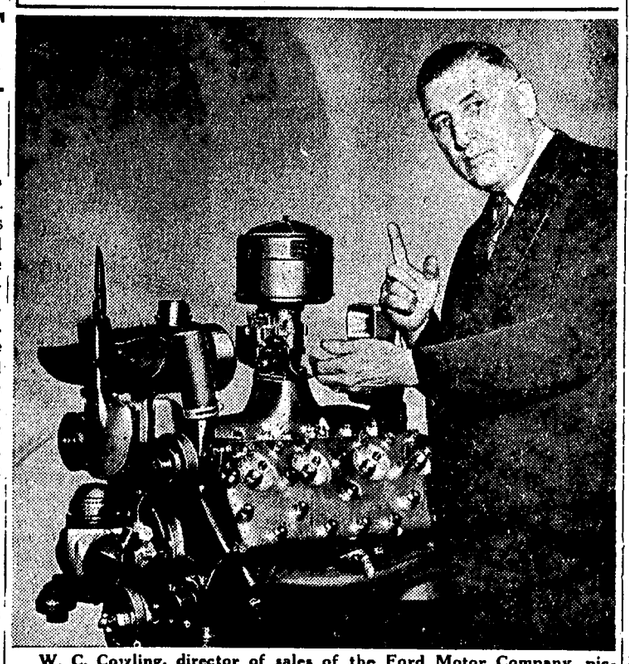
Emile Bom and Linne Mikkila, who are employed in San Francisco, are passing their vacation at the home of their parents.

Off For Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tweedy and daughter, Goldie, went to Los Angeles the fore part of last week for a visit with relatives and friends. Dick Tweedy is taking care of the service station during their absence.

Roy Williams is assisting R. Yarbrough in trucking his pears.

V-8 Engine "Heart of the Ford"



W. C. Cowling, director of sales of the Ford Motor Company, pictured during a recent visit to the Pacific Coast, explaining the highlights of the "heart of the Ford"—the famous 8-cylinder V-type engine.

Time tested and proven, 2,000,000 Ford 8-cylinder V-type engines are now performing on roads all over the world. First introduced to the low price field by Ford in 1932, the V-8 engine, setting a new standard for power and performance, has been an important factor in the steadily increasing Ford sales since that date, company officials believe.

The shortness of the V-type motor allows more body room on the same length wheelbase, and the rigidity of the short crankshaft gives smoother performance and minimizes vibration and wear, according to the local Ford dealer.

The V-type engine, the Ford dealer adds, has proved its superiority over all others. Virtually every important speed record is held by this type of power plant, on land, in the air and over the water. More expensive to build, the V-8 is found only in the Ford and America's most costly cars.

In spite of its increased power and speed, the 1935 Ford V-8 gives better gasoline mileage than any car of equal power, the dealer states, and is the most economical car Ford has ever built.

ITALIAN "BIG SHOT"

Had Prisoner Brought In.

Director O'Brien insisted Rocco Russo be brought into the board room and questioned and he was. The prisoner told how his family had paid large sums of money for his defense. How he had lost his case and been sent to Folsom. How soon afterward he had been visited by Joe Allioti and a man who had been in prison and who, in presence of Joe Allioti boasted that for money Joe Alliotti had gotten him a pardon. This murderer told Rocco Russo he had better deal with Joe Allioti. But Rocco Russo was too wise to fall for the scented shakedown and he evaded a compromise.

Relatives Give In.

In the meantime the aged parents of Rocco Russo were visited by Joe Allioti and the four brothers of Rocco Russo in the East were communicated with and they urged the money paying to Joe Allioti and, at last, Rosa Russo and her aged husband turned over a draft to Joe Allioti on the Bank of Italy for $7400 to be used to buy the parole of Rocco Russo.

The Turning Point.

No parole came and the father of Rocco Russo, knowing he had been duped, pined and died. Five years went by. Rocco Russo was still in prison and Rosa Russo went to Joe Allioti to have him either have her son freed or to be returned her money. Joe Allioti told the aged lady to go on east. He could do nothing for her.

The Lifer Talks

This situation got to Rocco Russo in Folsom and when he came into the board room he came fighting mad and he talked freely. He brought with him photographic copies of all the checks Joe Allioti had drawn out of the American Trust Company—all drawn out within six months after the money was deposited. He had the passbook and he had damaging letters from Joe Allioti, and these were written on Allioti's fish company stationery — letters that had only one construction—Rosa Russo had been robbed by a vicious type of human vulture.

Why Stop Now?

There arose a legal point in the crime—The money was paid six years ago and the statute of limitations had run, it was feared. Director O'Brien contended that, while the actual money theft had been committed more than three years before, the case was not barred by the statute of limitations because the case had been "strung along" by Joe Allioti and a letter promising freedom to the life termer was in the hands of the directors and it was dated less than six months ago and Director O'Brien urged vigorous prosecution. The board members are all for punishing Joe Allioti and the case will, probably, go to the grand jury at San Francisco.

Dentist In Trouble.

The Examiner in a later version of the case had this to say regarding Dr. Fred Carfagni, of San Francisco, son-in-law of J. S. Rohrbough, of Covelo:

"Police, drawn into the situation by the new charges, also commenced an investigation. Miss Anna Camtoni, telephone operator, was questioned by Captain of Inspectors Charles Dullea, concerning charges she had paid $50 to a North Beach dentist for his "influence" in a parole matter. Miss Camtoni assertedly told friends she paid the money to Dr. Fred Carfagni, 580 Green street, who in turn was to give it to Captain Dullea to intercede for a parole for Gaetano Plinio, serving one to five years in San Quentin for attempted extortion.

Denial By Doctor.

"Dr. Carfagni, also summoned by Captain Dullea, at first denied ever receiving any money from Miss Camtoni but later said she had paid him $50 for dental work, police said. After questioning Dr. Carfagni and Miss Camtoni, Captain Dullea announced he would place the case in District Attorney Brady's hands for possible grand jury action. The inquiry into the Rocco Russo case was expected to be directed first toward determining exactly what became of the $7000 paid by the prisoner's family in 1928 to Joseph Allioti, North Beach fish dealer."

Smoke Of Fires Darkened Town

(The Lakeport Press)

A hard fight on the part of volunteer fighters prevented further damage, and the fire was brought under control after about an hour.

"DON'T FORGET TAXPAYERS," URGES CHAIRMAN R. E. COLLINS

State Willing To Cooperate Within A Line Of Safety

Calling upon California taxpayers to guard against every effort to dissipate new tax savings made possible under the second phase of the Riley-Stewart Tax Relief Plan, Richard E. Collins, chairman of the State Board of Equalization, announced that the return of utility properties to county tax rolls should bring an average reduction of 15 per cent in local tax bills this fall.

Position Of The Board.

Properties of the utilities have been valued by the Board at $1,045,839,570, with $900,835,435 of this amount representing tangible property such as land, buildings and personal property. "The Board of Equalization, carrying out the provisions of the constitutional amendment adopted by the people in 1933, has ordered the return of utility properties to county tax rolls," said Mr. Collins' statement. "The consequent broadening of the local tax base should result in average tax reductions for common property taxpayers of approximately 15 per cent, the exact amount of the relief depending on the amount of utility property in the various counties.

Don't Forget This.

"It should be borne in mind, however, that while the Board has paved the way for this relief that only an aroused and vigilant public opinion can prevent increased county expenditures which might dissipate these savings either in part or in whole. Relief is within reach, but the responsibility of guaranteeing that it shall be actual, rather than theoretical, rests with the taxpayers and their county boards of supervisors."

Points Out Situation.

The statement emphasized that with a greatly broadened tax base, due to the increase in property subject to general local taxes, county boards of supervisors could increase expenditures without increasing the tax rate. But it also emphasized this policy would destroy the tax relief intended under the new setup. "Years ago, when the state ad valorem tax was abolished," said the statement, "there was a somewhat comparable situation. Counties, prior to abolition of the ad valorem tax, had included it in the general rate, acting, in effect, as tax collectors for the state. When the tax was abolished, the tax reduction to which the taxpayers were entitled was completely nullified in most counties within five years by reason of increased expenditures. That condition must not be permitted during this period, when our taxpayers are in vital need of relief, and it is the job of every taxpayer to demand that the tax savings now made possible shall be safeguarded and maintaned."

Road Tax Cut To 30 Cents.

The supervisors last week reduced the district road tax from 40 to 30 cents. During one part of the discussion a motion was made by Supervisor Charles R. Perkins the road tax be eliminated entirely, but no second was obtained to the motion. Following a consideration of all features of the matter the board decided to allow the 30 cent road tax to stand. Chas. Kasch, foreman of the grand jury, protested a high road tax and, is understood to have sent a letter to the state board of equalization in opposition to the same.

Big Increases.

The increased request made by the judge of the superior court for money for the coming year for his court expense and the fact heavy inroads were made on the treasury by relief and indigent fund costs were features which made it impossible for the supervisors to cut the tax levy as deeply as would otherwise have been possible.

Pea Harvest On Coast Is Ending

VACATION OVER

Mr. and Mrs. George Miller arrived home Sunday from Lane's Redwood Flat, where they have been camping the past month.

Efficient Official Left All Satisfied

Wm. Shackleton, head of the Board of Equalization offices at Santa Rosa was here on official duties in connection with the request made by the board of supervisors for permission to raise five per cent more than the restriction of the state board permitted. Mr. Shackleton very tactfully handled the matter and left everyone satisfied. "Bill" Shackleton has been in public life a great many years and every day his popularity increases because of the excellence of his work and the consideration he always gives to the interests of the people.

No Motor Trouble Here

These followers of the elusive trout found that even after driving 200 miles they could not reach the desirable spots. They were compelled to abandon their motor and take to horses and pack mules. Scene illustrated is 12 miles from nearest automobile, and is reached only by an extremely narrow pack-trail through the mountains. It is situated on beautiful Eel River in Mendocino County, which stream is a small edition of the Feather River. P. S.—They did catch fish, and according to report—even though the car wouldn't take them all the way—they carried in "Mobilgas" for use in camp stove and lamp.

Automobiles, so they say, have killed fishing, which is true only in so far as one's inclination to go back to the horse days is concerned. It is true, according to A. J. Donnelly, General Manager Northern California Division of General Petroleum Corporation, that streams adjacent to automobile roads are well fished out, but Mr. Donnelly got an unusual report on Mobilgas and interesting photographs from campers who recently made the trip to Eel river in Mendocino county at a point about 25 miles northeast of Covelo.

How They Did It.

Faced by the impossibility of getting to the best fishing point by motor, due to lack of roads, this party abandoned their car 12 miles out of Covelo at a pack camp and finished the journey with horses and pack mules. The 12-mile ride was over a tortuous mountain trail totally inaccessible to automobiles. But even though the automobile in which the party traveled could not make the full distance, yet Mobilgas—the fuel used by the party—did get into the wilds as it was carried in by the campers for use in camp stoves and camp light ,according to report made to Manager Donnelly.

A Lovely Spot.

The Eel river country is extremely rugged and beautiful and, believe it or not, teeming with fish if the right spots are found. It looks like a small edition of Feather river with its canyons and boulders—surprising glimpses of which are caught from time to time when riding along the trail.

Not Hard To Make.

The trip is not difficult excepting for, perhaps, those unaccustomed to horseback riding. It is 160 miles from Sausalito to Laytonville on Redwood Highway (No. 101) over excellent paved road, then about 40 miles over narrow, dirt road and the last 12 miles on horseback.

SOUTHCOAST RANCHERS HOLD PICNIC SATURDAY, AUGUST 24

All-Day Affair Holds Many Attractions To Farmers

The Ninth Annual Livestock Show and Dairymen's Picnic will be put on by the Point Arena-Manchesteer Farm Center Saturday next, August 24, at the Farm Center Fair Grounds, Manchester.

Some Of The Attractions.

It is planned to have a general stock exhibit, featuring dairy cattle. Arrangements have been made for a flower show and vegetable exhibit. During the last two years of the fair, very fine exhibits of flowers and vegetables have been made, and it is anticipated this year's display will again be a credit to the fine flowers and produce raised on the coast. An interesting program, entertainment and educational events have been arranged for. There will be sports of all kinds in the morning, including a tug-of-war between the champion Point Arena Farm Center tug-of-war team and a team selected from the county. A $25 cash award has been put up for the winning team. At noon, a free barbecue, consisting of baby beef and lamb, will be put on by famous Point Arena chefs. Coffee and cream will also be provided. Basket lunches should be brought by those attending. Starting at two o'clock, judging of livestock will commence. Professor Wm. Regan of the Dairy Division, College of Agriculture, University of California, is to conduct the judging work, assisted by G. E. Gordon, Dairy Extension Specialist, College of Agriculture, University of California. Awards consisting of cups and ribbons will be made to the winners in the different classes.

There Is No Admission.

Admission to the grounds will be 50 cents, including the barbecue, amusements, stock judging and other events. In the evening, a big dance will be held, starting at nine o'clock and extending to milking time. An invitation is extended to all by the Point Arena-Manchester Farm Center to attend the Stock Show and enjoy a cool day on the coast.

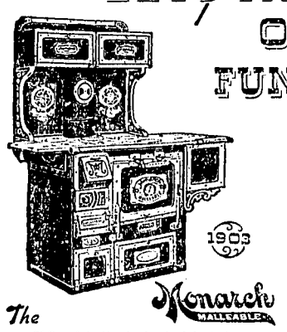
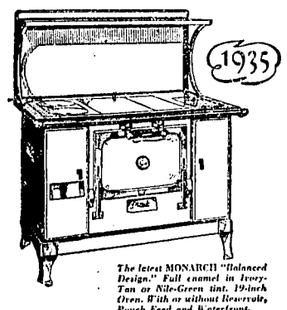
AS WE "Go Modern" LET'S NOT FORGET OLD-TIME FUNDAMENTALS



The Monarch MALLEABLES

OLD and the NEW—but both built the same inside—Full Malleable Ranges



The latest MONARCH "Balanced Design." Full enamel in Ivory-Tan or Nile-Green tint. 19-inch Oven. With or without Reservoir, Pouch Feed and Waterfront.

WHEN folks bought ranges, back in 1903, this MONARCH was the last word in snappy new style.

In those days there was no porcelain enamel—no artistic designs to divert attention from the malleable iron construction and riveted joints that women considered vitally important.

Long life, good baking and fuel economy were the features that housewives insisted on having. And "malleable" ranges gave these qualities as no other range could.

Are these considerations less important today? We believe not.

MONARCH has "Gone Modern" to the limit — but MONARCH has not forsaken the fundamentals of malleable iron construction that insure tight joints, efficient cooking and "Stay Satisfactory" service.

Underneath that beautiful enamel body you will find the same unbreakable malleable iron parts—the same riveted construction that there was 30 years ago.

And the good qualities your Mother demanded in her range are the same ones YOU should demand today.

Buy a beautiful enameled range, by all means — but be sure there are malleable iron parts and riveted joints underneath the enameled body.

Let us show you a MONARCH — and explain how it is made.
